

Hang up. Commitments captured.

Your team already does the only thing this needs. They answer the phone. Nothing to install, and nothing changes about how a conversation is placed or answered.

WHAT IS HAPPENING TODAY

Your best information walks out the door, one conversation at a time.

A callback was promised and nobody wrote it down. The same complaint came in for the fourth time this month and no one joined the dots. A conversation happened that was going to cost you a customer, and you found out after they had already gone. None of it was captured, because capturing it was never anyone's real job.

FROM THE DAY IT IS SWITCHED ON

Every commitment becomes a task

The summary is there the moment you hang up, and every promise made in the conversation becomes a task with an owner, a due date and a status. Assign it to anyone in the business, including people who never touched the conversation.

The costly moments reach a person

An upset customer, or one threatening to leave, reaches whoever you choose within minutes of hang-up, with the summary and the evidence attached. While you can still do something about it.

WHAT CHANGES FOR YOUR TEAM

- ✓ Nothing to install, on any phone or any computer.
- ✓ Nothing changes about how a conversation is placed or answered.
- ✓ No note taking, no forms and no writing up afterwards.
- ✓ Summaries arrive by email, so nobody has to log in to anything.

Built to help the business, not to watch your people.

Payment card data is redacted. Conversations detected as personal are suppressed before analysis. Recording on your phone service is the one thing that has to be switched on already. There is no recording charge on top of what you pay today. Nothing happens on its own. A person always sees it and decides what to do.

Ask us to switch it on.

It turns on for the seats you already pay for, including people in the business who never touch a phone. Ask us what it looks like on your own conversations.
